Jobs for nurses – recruitment open day in Coalville

Leicestershire Partnership NHS Trust is holding a recruitment open morning on Wednesday, May 6, 2015, in Coalville.

The event is a chance for staff nurses to find out about the Trust, its work, and the opportunities available.

Sarah Clements, one of the Trust’s inpatient ward matrons, said: “Nursing is a rewarding career and we have a number of vacancies on our community hospital wards for registered nurses. We are also looking for staff nurses to join our nursing bank.

“The Trust is a major employer of clinical staff and is an experienced teaching organisation. This means we have lots of opportunities for you to develop and further your career.

“We also offer excellent benefits, great team working, and job satisfaction of providing a high standard of care to our patients. We are proud of working for LPT and of the high standard of care we deliver every day.”

The open morning is at Coalville Community Hospital, Broom Leys Road, Coalville, LE67 4DE, from 10am to 1pm on Wednesday May 6, 2015.

Coalville sits within North West Leicestershire, home to the National Forest, Donington Park motor racing circuit and music festival venue, and East Midlands Airport. It has excellent road links, including the M1, A42, and A50.

There are immediate vacancies at Coalville Community Hospital. The hospital provides stroke rehabilitation, general rehabilitation, palliative care and end of life care.

Potential recruits will have a chance to speak to staff who work at the hospital.

The Trust has job opportunities across Leicester, Leicestershire and Rutland. It employs approximately 5,400 staff across over 100 community care settings from a variety of community hospitals and health centres, and in patients’ own homes. Patients range from newly born babies to those needing end-of-life care.
