

Computerised mental health therapies for older adults

Request

I was wondering if you could supply me with a list of the computerised mental health therapies your organisation uses. Computerised therapies are software such as: beating the blues and Living Life to the Full

Response

The Trust's Open Mind Service does not currently use any computerised CBT packages. Clients can access some of these packages freely and independently on the internet.