Equality Statement

It takes into account the provisions of the Equality Act 2010 and advances equal opportunities for all. In carrying out its functions, LPT must have due regard to the different needs of different protected equality groups in their area. This applies to all the activities for which LPT is responsible, including policy development, review and implementation.

1.0 Summary

- 1.1 The Retirement Policy is intended to help managers and employees understand the options available when employees wish to retire. 5.0 Normal Retirement Age for Pension Purposes

5.0.1 LPT does not have an organisational retirement age.

5.0.2 Employees in the NHS Pension Scheme may take a normal retirement pension once they have reached normal retirement age. Normal retirement age is 60 for employees in the 1995 Section of the NHS Pension Scheme and 65 for employees in the 2008 Section of the NHS Pension Scheme.

5.1 Early (before normal retirement age) Retirement for Pension Purposes

5.1.1 Employees who have reached the Minimum Retirement Age for NHS Pension purposes may choose to take early retirement and a reduced pension.

5.1.2 Minimum retirement age for employees in the 1995 Section of the NHS Pension Scheme is 50 and members of this section may retire between 50 and 60 and take a reduced pension.

5.1.3 Minimum retirement age for employees in the 2008 Section of the NHS Pension Scheme is 55 and members of this section may retire between the ages of 55 and 65 and take a reduced pension.

5.1.4 Employees are advised to seek advice from the NHS Pension Scheme, through the Payroll department via the helpdesk or at <http://nhsbsa.nhs.uk/pensions> prior to making any decisions regarding early retirement to consider the implications for their pension rights.

5.1.5 Members of the NHS Pension Scheme are eligible to retire earlier than pensionable age if they are certified as being permanently incapable of carrying out efficiently the duties on which they are employed because of illness. Ill health retirement has a two year qualifying service and early pension benefits are payable regardless of age. All ill health retirements must be approved by the NHS Pensions Agency. Please see the Policy and Procedure on the Management of Absence for more information.

- 5.1.6 Early retirement may also apply in certain redundancy and organisational change situations – please contact Human Resources Department, Pensions Agency or look at the NHS Pensions Agency website www.nhspa.gov.uk.

5.2 Special Class Status/Mental Health Officer Status (1995 Section only)

5.2.1 Nurses, Physiotherapists, Midwives, Occupational Health Nurses, Health Visitors who were members of the 1995 Section of the NHS Pension Scheme before 6 March 1995 have Special Class Status. Female members of the special classes are entitled to retire with benefits from age 55, provided that their last 5 years membership prior to retirement is in one of these jobs. Male members of the special classes can retire from age 55 provided that their last 5 years membership prior to retirement is in one of these jobs, but their benefits will only be based on their membership from 17 May 1990. Benefits for membership before that date will not be paid until age 60 unless the member applies to take reduced benefits for that part of their pension.

5.2.2 Employees in the 1995 Section of the NHS Pension Scheme with Mental Health Officer Status are entitled to retire without any reduction of benefits from age 55, provided they are in an MHO job during their last 5 years of membership

5.3 Flexible Early Retirement

5.3.1 Wherever possible LPT is keen to support employees who wish to take a flexible approach to their retirement. The new NHS Pension Scheme arrangements introduced in April 2008 have responded to the reality that people often value the opportunity to work later, but with increased flexibility in the transition period between work and retirement. There are several flexible retirement options that employees can consider:

Wind down – employees may be able to reduce the number of hours they work.

Step down – employees who do not want to retire, but who would like to give up the pressure and responsibilities of their current role can request to step down into a less demanding and lower graded post, which still makes use of their skills and experience.

Retire and Resume – staff who have reached minimum retirement age can opt to retire, take all their pension benefits and return to NHS employment. Options available include registering with the staff bank and working on an ‘as and when’ basis or applying for a new permanent position (see below).

Draw down – members of the 2008 Section of the NHS Pension Scheme may choose to take part of their pension benefits whilst continue in NHS employment.

5.3.2 Employees are advised to seek advice from the NHS Pension Scheme, through the Payroll department via the helpdesk or at <http://www.nhsbsa.nhs.uk/pensions> prior to making any decisions regarding flexible retirement to consider the implications for their pension rights.

5.3.4 Employees considering flexible retirement options should refer to the Flexible Working Policy and Procedure, which details the procedure for making an application for flexible retirement.

5.4 Re-employment in the NHS following early retirement

5.4.1 Employees who wish to return to NHS employment after they have retired and accessed their NHS Pension are strongly advised to take contact the NHS Pensions Agency <http://www.nhsbsa.nhs.uk/pensions> regarding their permitted hours, earnings and pension contributions.

5.4.2 If a person wishes to retire and return to their post on flexible grounds, it will be offered to them provided:

- The service requires the post to be filled and
- The post is not deemed suitable for another employee seeking redeployment within the Trust due to being at risk of redundancy, ill health, capability etc. and
- The retiring employee's flexible working request can be accommodated in terms of hours of work and working pattern

All requests for flexible retirement will be carefully considered and not unreasonably refused but the manager's decision, which will be based on service need, is final and there is no right of appeal against this decision.

5.4.3 Retired NHS employees who are appointed to a new post in LPT must have a minimum break of 2 weeks between leaving and re-engagement and will be issued with a new contract of employment by the Human Resources Department. Continuous employment date for such employees will be the date of re-engagement; however they would retain their reckonable service for contractual benefits such as annual leave.

5.5 Notice of Retirement from Employee (Voluntary Resignation)

5.5.1 Employees who wish to retire and begin drawing their pension must inform their line manager in writing at least 16 weeks prior to their intended retirement date.

5.5.2 The line manager should arrange to meet with the employee. During this meeting the 'Staff Notification of Retirement Form' (H7Form) and 'Termination of Employment Form' (H5 Form) should be completed. The line manager will then forward these forms to the HR Department.

5.5.3 HR will write to the employee to acknowledge receipt of his/her request to retire. For staff with 20 or more years' service in the NHS the letter will include details of their Retirement Gift and the contribution LPT will make towards the cost of a retirement party. A copy of the letter will also be sent to the line manager.

5.5.4 The Payroll department will issue form AW8 to the employee to complete and return with the necessary certificates. Please note that NHS pensions can not be issued without this information.

5.5.5 Employees who are not members of the NHS Pension Scheme should also follow the process outline above, but are only required to give contractual notice of their intention to retire.

5.6 Preparation for Retirement

5.6.1 A one day course 'Preparing for Retirement' is available for employees planning for their retirement. It is recommended that staff attend between 12 and 18 months before their retirement. The course is run by the University Hospitals of Leicester NHS Trust at Leicester Royal Infirmary. Details of the course are shown in Appendix 1. The cost of attending the course will be met from the line manager's budget.

5.6.2 Employees interested in attending should discuss it with their line manager in the first instance.

Retirement Awards/Parties

Retirement Gifts

The Trust will provide a retirement gift award for employees who retire with 10 or more years' service in the NHS. The entitlement is as stated below;

- 0-9 Years – no entitlement to gift
- 10 years - £50
- Thereafter, the award of £5 per year of service up to a maximum of £200 will apply.

The service does not need to be continuous service and separate periods of NHS employment will be aggregated. Service through 'the bank'/flexible staffing is not recognised for the purposes of calculating length of service.

The award will apply to any form of retirement including normal age retirement, early retirement, ill-health retirement or retirement as a result of redundancy.

In line with HMRC Regulations staff with 20 years' service who have not received another long service award in the previous 10 years will not need to pay tax and National Insurance contributions on the value of their gift.

However, where staff have received a long service award within the previous 10 years or have less than 10 years' service, LPT is required to report the full value of your gift to HMRC via your P11D (which may mean that the HMRC will ask you to pay tax on it). You will also be required to pay Class 1A National Insurance Contributions on the value of the gift.

Retirement Parties

Employees retiring after 10 or more year's cumulative service in the NHS are eligible for financial support of £50 to offset the cost of a retirement party.

Managers should ensure that appropriate receipts are obtained and retained for 7 years for audit purposes.

Employees should make arrangements for payment of gifts and parties directly with their line manager.

The cost of Retirement Awards and Parties should be met from an appropriate budget held by the line manager.
