Equality Statement

Leicestershire Partnership NHS Trust (LPT) aims to design and implement procedure documents that meet the diverse needs of our service, population and workforce, ensuring that none are placed at a disadvantage over others.

It takes into account the provisions of the Equality Act 2010 and promotes equal opportunities for all.

This document has been assessed to ensure that no one receives less favourable treatment on the protected characteristics of their age, disability, sex (gender), gender reassignment, sexual orientation, marriage and civil partnership, race, religion or belief, pregnancy and maternity.

In carrying out its functions, LPT must have due regard to the different needs of different protected equality groups in their area.

This applies to all the activities for which LPT is responsible, including procedure development and review.

Due Regard

LPT must have due regard to the aims of eliminating discrimination and promoting equality when policies are being developed. Information about due regard can be found on the Equality page on e-source and/or by contacting the LPT Equalities Team.

The Due regard assessment template is Appendix 3 of this document

Definitions that apply to this Procedure

All procedural documents should have a definition of terminology to ensure staff clearly understand what is being described (refer to Policy for Policies for assistance).

Secondee	Secondee is the individual being seconded.
Seconding Manager	Seconding Manager is the individual who manages the secondee in his or her substantive post.
Host Manager	Host Manager is the individual who will manage the secondee during the secondment.
Substantive Post	Substantive Post is the original post that the employee was in prior to the secondment.
Expressions of Interest	Expressions of Interest is a way to advertise a secondment post where you require a specific set of skills and/or experience which would be held by a pool of internal candidates and where it is unlikely that anyone else in the wider organisation would be able to undertake the role. This should be completed with an appropriate selection process. This should be discussed with your HR representative.
An External Secondment	An External Secondment is where a person is seconded from LPT to an external third party organisation, or the person being seconded is initially from an external organisation being seconded to LPT
An internal Secondment	An internal Secondment is where an employee is seconded from one LPT department to another

1.0. Purpose of the Procedure

- 1.1 This document sets out the Leicestershire Partnership NHS Trust (LPT) NHS Trusts Procedure and Procedures for seconding staff both internally and externally to the Trust.
- 1.2 The Trust recognises that secondment opportunities are valuable for both the employee and organisational development, providing the opportunity for career development and skills enhancement.
- 1.3 The aim of this Procedure is to ensure that there is a robust procedure for the implementation of secondments internally and externally to LPT, and to provide an accountable and transparent framework ensuring that secondment opportunities are equitable, fair, safe and effective in meeting the needs of the individual and the organisation.

2.0. Summary and Key Points

- 2.1. This procedure clarifies the processes for different types of secondment including how they should be advertised and staff selected to them, what steps are required to ensure that staff selected for secondment are safe to carry out the secondment and how management processes such as dealing with financial arrangements and the end of secondment periods should work.
- 2.2. This Procedure applies to all LPT employees with the exception of workers on bank staff contracts.
- 2.3. Please note that for staff employed on a temporary basis if the secondment should exceed the duration of the fixed term contract, there is no guarantee of a role at the end of the secondment with the original organisation.
- 2.4. This procedure does not apply to secondments to training.

3.0. Introduction

- 3.1. This procedure is to explain different types of secondments and the processes that are required for each so that they are employed consistently across the Trust.
- 3.2. This procedure has been developed in conjunction with University Hospitals Leicester to help provide a consistent approach to this activity across the area.

4.0. Duties within the Organisation

- 4.1 The Trust Board has a legal responsibility for Trust policies and for ensuring that they are carried out effectively.
- 4.2 Director of Human Resources & Organisational Development – Executive Lead:
 - To ensure the development and implementation of appropriate guidance on secondment agreements. To ensure that any changes to terms and conditions and legal implications are reflected in the Procedure.

5.0. Human Resources Department

- Support managers in drawing up secondment agreements between departments/organisations
- Provide support and advice to staff on any aspect of their employment, terms and conditions of service.
- Promote the Procedure and give general guidance and support to managers.
- Promote consistent Procedure application across the Trust through regular monitoring.

6.0. Manager Responsibilities

There are a range of different situations where a secondment arrangement will take place.

Adhere to the appropriate vacancy and authorisation processes

There are some common responsibilities to all types of secondment. Additionally you will need to refer to the particular secondment arrangement that you want to put in place. These are detailed further below in section 8.

Please note this procedure does not apply to secondments to training.

7.0. Secondee Responsibilities

- Ensuring they consult with their line manager and have their support prior to applying for any secondment.
- Adhering to LPT employment policies and procedures throughout the duration of any secondment. Individuals are expected to act as ambassadors for the Trust and should not act in any way which might bring the Trust into disrepute.
- Adhering to any local policies or procedures as required by the host organisation.
- Informing the Host Manager of any specific needs or adjustments to support their integration into the new workplace.
- Ensuring (if their substantive role requires them to be registered) they maintain their professional registration even if the secondment is to a post where such a requirement is not necessary (for example a trained nurse being seconded to a corporate department).
- Maintaining regular contact with their seconding manager.
- The secondee must attend all statutory and mandatory training relevant to the secondment position.
- Once in post, objectives should be agreed between the Host Manager and the secondee along with the identification of any training and development needs.
- Secondments outside of the NHS may require a return to NHS duties for short periods during the term of the secondment to ensure professional registration is maintained and meet revalidation requirements. The secondee will need to make sure they are liaising with your substantive manager to arrange opportunities to maintain their professional registration. In the event of failure to maintain professional registration the following policies will apply revalidation/disciplinary/professional registration.

- Additionally there are some eligibility criteria a secondee must meet:
- Have been in their current post for a minimum of 12 months at the time of the closing date on the advertisement for the secondment.
- If the individual is subject to a current disciplinary sanction that is live at the time they make an application, they cannot be considered for a secondment.
- An employee applying for a secondment will need to have achieved an overall rating in their most recent appraisal of at least “Acceptable in all areas”.
- Please note that for staff employed on a temporary basis if the secondment should exceed the duration of the fixed term contract, there is no guarantee of a role at the end of the secondment with the original organisation.
- Whilst on secondment ensuring that they take responsibility for keeping the mandatory training requirements of their role up to date. Additionally to take responsibility for their pay step if due, and that undertake an appraisal with the host department/organisation and arrange for the feedback from this appraisal to be given to their substantive manager to administer the processes around any pay step that is due.
- At end of the secondment period, the employee will return to their original band. Where pay step progression would have occurred in their substantive post whilst the employee was on secondment, the employee will be awarded the relevant pay step credit to the pay point they return from the secondment on.

8.0. Different Types of Secondment

8.1 There are 4 different secondment arrangements covered by this procedure:

A) External secondment (out) Secondment from LPT to Third party organisation so you are the manager arranging to second the employee out	B) External secondment (in) Secondment from Third party organisation to LPT so you are the manager hosting the seconded employee
C) Internal Secondment from Department A to B within LPT. You are the manager of Department A so you are the manager arranging to second the employee out	D) Internal Secondment from Department A to B within LPT. You are the manager of Department B hosting the seconded employee

This procedure does not apply to secondments to training.

The following tables explain the process and responsibilities for the manager for each arrangement.

9.0. What happens if a secondment finishes early?

9.1 During the secondment, should either party have cause to be dissatisfied with the secondment such as with regard to performance issues, work allocation, supervision etc. they should raise the matter with each other informally in the first instance with the aim of finding a satisfactory resolution. If this is not achieved advice should be sought from your HR representative.

9.2 In the unlikely event that it should be necessary to terminate the secondment, whether through the choice of the individual secondee, the host organisation or the substantive employer, the following action will be taken:

- All parties will be informed in writing with a suitable period of not less than 28 working days to be given to all parties to ensure arrangements are in place to accommodate any necessary change. This will apply except in the case of gross misconduct where the employee may be summarily dismissed without notice in accordance with LPT's Disciplinary Procedure.
- Where a post has been temporarily filled during the absence of the secondee, a suitable alternative post will, if possible, be identified for the duration of the secondment period.
- Managing the circumstances remains at all times the mutual responsibility of the secondee, the host organisation and the established employer.

9.3 Maternity, Parental, Adoption Leave or Sick Leave during the Secondment

If during the secondment the Secondees needs to start maternity, parental or adoption leave or long term sick leave (greater than 4 weeks) then this must be addressed by the Seconding Manager/employer. This will allow for the secondment to be fulfilled by somebody else, if necessary.

- 4.3 The Secondee will not publish any articles or give any lectures or make any written or oral statements relating to the Secondment Host Organisation's business or field of activity without the prior written consent of the Secondment Host Organisation.

5. Disciplinary and Grievance

As the Secondee is not an employee of the Secondment Host Organisation, the Secondment Host Organisation's disciplinary and grievance procedures do not apply but the Employer's disciplinary and grievance procedures will apply. If the Secondee has any grievance relating to the secondment or if the Secondment Host Organisation is dissatisfied with the Secondee's conduct or performance during the secondment, then in the first instance, the Secondee and the Secondment Host Organisation will attempt to resolve the matter informally. If the matter is not resolved as a result to the satisfaction of the Secondee or the Secondment Host Organisation respectively, then the matter will be pursued under the relevant Procedure by the Secondee's substantive employer.

Where a grievance relates entirely to any of the terms and conditions agreed by the Host organisation, it may be appropriate for the grievance to be heard under their policy/procedure, with input from the substantive employer as required.

6. Equal Opportunities Procedure

The Employer is committed to providing equal opportunities to all employees and prospective employees regardless of age, race, nationality or ethnic origin, religion, gender, marital status, sexuality, disability, trades union membership (or non-membership) or political affiliation, or are otherwise disadvantaged by any conditions or requirements which cannot be shown to be justified, and as such, expects this level of commitment from the Secondment Host Organisation.

It is a condition of the secondment that the Secondee should be familiar with, and should at all times comply with the terms of the Secondment Host Organisation's Equal Opportunities Statement and associated policies/schemes/guidelines. Acts of racial or sexual discrimination or harassment will be dealt with in accordance with the Employer's Disciplinary procedure but could lead to the secondment being terminated.

A copy of the Secondment Host Organisation's Equal Opportunities Statement may be obtained from the Human Resources Department.

7. Confidentiality

- 7.1 The Employer requires its employees to maintain a high standard of confidentiality and all employees are subject to the requirements of the Data Protection Act 1998, and as such would expect the Secondee to adhere to the Secondment Host Organisation's policies in this respect.
- 7.2 It is a condition of the secondment that the Secondee will not use, access or disclose any confidential information obtained during the course of his /her secondment except where such disclosure and/or use is authorised by the Secondment Host Organisation. Examples of confidential information include the identity of clients, details of clients' medical records and treatment, and confidential Procedure documents.

- 7.4 If the secondee is in any doubt regarding the use of information in the pursuit of their duties they should seek advice from their manager before communicating such information.

8. Intellectual Property

All intellectual property rights arising during the secondment as a result of the Secondee performing the Duties during the secondment shall belong to the Secondment Host Organisation absolutely and the Employer and the Secondee shall execute all documents and carry out all such acts and do all such things necessary to give effect to this clause.

9. Indemnity

- 9.1 It is the intention of the parties that the Secondee is and shall be treated for all purposes as the employee of the Employer and shall not be entitled to any salary, pension, bonus or other fringe benefits from the Secondment Host Organisation. It is agreed that the Employer shall be responsible for all income tax liability, National Insurance, Pension or similar contributions in respect of any payment to the Secondee for the provision of services by the Secondee to the Secondment Host Organisation under this Agreement.

The Secondment Host organisation will assume vicarious liability whilst the secondee carries out authorised duties on the Secondment Host's premises for the purposes of this secondment against any costs, damage, losses or liability to any person including employer liability (arising from all employment related claims that might arise as a result of this secondment), public liability and officer liability, professional indemnity and damage to or loss of the Secondment Host Organisation's property, providing always that such costs, damage or liability do not arise from the secondees own gross negligence.

(Generally the above paragraph will cover indemnity issues. The rest of section 9 has been provided for what are to be expected to be rare circumstances where the Employer is retaining responsibility for indemnity issues for the secondee. This statement is only likely to be used when someone is being seconded to LPT in very particular circumstances. If section 9.2 to 9.5 used, then section 9.1 will need to be deleted and vice versa)

9.2 It is the intention of the parties that the Secondee is and shall be treated for all purposes as an employee of the Employer but shall not be entitled to any salary, pension, bonus or other fringe benefits from the Host. It is agreed that the Employer shall be responsible for all income tax liability and National Insurance or similar contributions in respect of any payment to the Secondee for the provision of Services by the Secondee to the Host under this agreement.

- e) Any and all liability arising from any breach of the provisions of the Data Protection Act 1998 by the Secondee.

9.4 The Employer hereby indemnifies the Host against any and all claims, liabilities, actions, proceedings, costs (including legal fees), losses, damages, demands, penalties, fines or expenses suffered or incurred by the Host which are attributable to any act or omission by the Employer or any other person for whom the Employer is liable arising out of: (a) The employment or termination of employment of the Secondee during the Secondment Period; or

- (b) The engagement or termination of engagement of the Seconded under the terms of this agreement during the Secondment Period; or
- (c) Any breach by the Employer of any collective agreement or other custom, practice or arrangement (whether or not legally binding) with a trade union, staff association or employee representatives in respect of the Seconded.

Including, for the avoidance of doubt, liability for personal injury, accident or illness suffered or incurred in whole or in part during the Secondment Period, breach of contract or in tort or under any legislation applicable in the United Kingdom, for any remedy, including without limitation, pursuant to the Employment Rights Act 1996, or for unfair dismissal, redundancy, statutory redundancy, equal pay, sex, race, age or disability discrimination or any relevant statutory provision.

- 9.5 If the Host suffers any claims, liabilities, actions, proceedings, costs, losses, damages or demands ("Loss") in respect of which the Employer is liable to make a payment ("Indemnity Payment") to the Host and such payment is taxable in the Host's hands but the Loss is not deductible in calculating that tax liability, then the Employer shall pay such additional amount to the Host as the Host's tax advisor certifies it necessary to put the Host in the same net of tax position as it would have been if the Indemnity Payment was not taxable in the Host's hands and the Loss was not deductible by the Host for tax purposes.

10. Conduct of Claims

- 10.1 If the Employer becomes aware of any matter that may give rise to a claim against Secondment Host Organisation, notice of that fact shall be given as soon as possible to Secondment Host Organisation.

- 10.3 Without prejudice to the validity of the claim or alleged claim in question, the Employer and Secondment Host Organisation shall allow each other and their professional advisors to investigate the matter or circumstance alleged to give rise to such claim and whether and to what extent any amount is payable in respect of such claim, and for such purpose. The Employer and Secondment Host Organisation shall give all such information and assistance, including access to premises and personnel, and the right to examine and copy or photograph any assets, accounts, documents and records, as the other or their professional advisors may reasonably request provided that nothing in this clause shall be construed as requiring Secondment Host Organisation or the Employer to disclose any document or thing subject to any privilege. Secondment Host Organisation and the Employer agree to keep all such information confidential and only to use it for such purpose.

- 10.4 No admission of liability shall be made by or on behalf of Secondment Host Organisation and any such claim shall not be compromised, disposed of or settled without the consent of Secondment Host Organisation.
- 10.5 Secondment Host Organisation shall be entitled in its absolute discretion to take such action as it shall deem necessary to avoid, dispute, deny, defend, resist, appeal, compromise or contest any such claim or liability (including, without limitation, making counterclaims or other claims against third parties) in the name of Secondment Host Organisation.
