Introduction

Getting Help in Neighbourhoods (GHIN) is part of our plans to transform mental health services across Leicester, Leicestershire and Rutland, known as Better Mental Health For All. Its aims are to provide more support for mental health and wellbeing, closer to home and relevant to local communities' needs.

A key part of the GHIN project is the grant scheme which aims to invest more into local voluntary and community sector partners (VCS) to deliver mental health and wellbeing projects. Funded by the NHS in partnership with Leicestershire County Council, Leicester City Council and Rutland County Council, over £2 million has been awarded to 51 local VCS organisations since May 2022.

ADHAR Project empowers people to manage their own mental health difficulties by offering a language specialist service, hoping to fill the current gap for vulnerable individuals and families within the BAME community in Leicestershire not currently accessing services due to language specialist services not being made available.

This is leading to a lot of people missing out on receiving support and ADHAR believe their service will help tackle ongoing stigmas and barriers currently identified within the communities. With the option of language, they can also help and build relationships within communities.

ADHAR offer therapeutic support using arts, social and cultural activities both as individual support and group sessions, advice information and signposting, advocacy on behalf of individuals and communities on mental health, ensuring they understand their rights, educating society on mental health issues, challenging stigma and encouraging people to seek early intervention and counselling support (CBT/DBT) with some low-level weekend emotional support.

After18 works with asylum-seeking and refugee young people up to the age of 25 who are living in Leicester and the surrounding area. They were established in 2013 and are now working with over 200 young people every year.

Their aim is to be a consistent long-term point of reference and safe space, and to create a sense of belonging for young refugees. They seek to improve their educational opportunities, increase the skills, knowledge and understanding that will enable them to participate in daily life in the UK, improve their social support networks and build confidence in their own cultural identity. Led by the needs of the young people, After18 have evolved a broad programme of educational and wellbeing activities to enable them to deliver these outcomes.

The GHIN funding will support the operation of their weekly wellbeing group for young asylum-seeking or refugee women in Leicester City Centre. By facilitating mutual support and encouraging participation in a range of creative and wellbeing activities every week, they aim to increase confidence and reduce isolation among young women, including victims of trafficking, who have arrived in the UK without their families.

As the largest provider of specialist debt and social welfare advice in Leicester, Leicester Community Advice and Law Centre (LCALC) supports clients to address some of the practical issues that may be impacting on their mental and physical health, such as debt, welfare benefits, housing and immigration matters. They work from their office in Leicester City Centre and at outreach venues across Leicester City in order to reach clients most in need of their help.

However, poor mental health can sometimes act as a barrier to clients accessing and staying engaged with LCALC's support, making it harder for them to resolve their problems.

LCALC will be using the GHIN funding to employ a specialist worker to support people through the advice process in a holistic manner, helping their most vulnerable clients to stay engaged, prepare for appointments effectively and follow through on agreed actions. They will also be providing training for all of our front-line staff in order to enable them to support clients with mental health difficulties more confidently and effectively.

Mental health has played a big part in the projects at Team Hub as this has been the biggest issue within the community. The community cafe is the heart of the hub and the starting place that the residents felt comfortable to initially access, within the cafe they have been able to discuss challenges they are facing and how this is impacting on their wellbeing.

The Getting Help in Neighbourhoods funding supports Team Hub CIC to be open from 8am - 8pm, 5 days a week instead of 4 hours per day, and to provide additional group sessions to target the harder to reach residents, especially men and women from other ethnic backgrounds.

The Bridge (East Midlands) offers a range of advice, assistance and support services working together to prevent and overcome homelessness.

The 'Thrive Project' run by Without Walls provide weekly singing cafés, a fun activity which is proven to have mental and physical benefits and also helps those who are feeling socially isolated. They also offer a seated exercise activity at some of the cafés, through partnership with the 'Love to Move' programme, developed by the British Gymnastics Foundation.

Without Walls continue to provide their monthly 'Lunch Parties' which have grown, giving people an event to look forward to with home visits in between if they need more support, and even if they just want someone to talk to.

Both activities have a proven track record of helping people with their overall health and wellbeing whilst helping them connect with others in a safe, supportive, community network which service users and carers can access as much or as little as they wish.

Both arms of the project don't require any abilities, e.g. singing, so guests can participate at whatever level they are able.

Women 4 Change was founded by a group of mothers from St Matthews and the surrounding area to support, educate and empower women and young people but not exclusively.

The funding helps Women 4 Change to host 12 bi-monthly group sessions with a counsellor. They also run fortnightly face to face and zoom sessions in Somali language, hosted by a health professional to inform the local community about mental health and raise awareness such as noticing signs, asking for help and benefits of counselling. Their project will help and support the ethnic minority communities who have not engaged due to language and cultural barriers. They want to remove this stigma in the community and help individuals understand the effects of mental health, reduce isolation and reduce health inequalities.

Women 4 Change also aim to help the elderly by connecting them with others in their area so they can share their perspective and relay their struggles. Finally, the funding will help to educate people on the effects of drugs and alcohol abuse and its links with mental health, such as self-medicating on account of mental illness. They want to remove the taboo of speaking on these issues so they can isolate the root causes of the problem and provide support where needed.
